EDITORIAL

by Leon Buchanan

"Roll on, those lazy, hazy, crazy days of Summer" go the words of a popular song. Well it's here, the "Good Old Summertime." There are those who think that it's much too hot to go bushwalking when the sun rides higher and longer in the sky; and those who think "mad dogs and bushwalkers go out in the midday sun" to vary a Noel Coward theme.

Don't you believe it! What better season to go walking? The days are longer so you can do more and go further! You don't have to rush up mountains and down valleys to reach your campsite before dark; and think of the joy of actually being able to see what you are cooking AND eating!

What more could you ask? Now don't be too greedy! Seriously though, this is the time to get out and about. You can swim in cool mountain streams, relax in the shade of tall gums and sit around a campfire in the warm evenings. You do do some walking in between!

Now exams are over for many, and the holiday season approaches, there is an opportunity to make up for lost time, so why not swing into the summer season and go bushwalking? The Outings programme features many ideal summer trips so why not come along and enjoy yourself in the company of fellow walkers?

Summer also recalls the season of Christmas so may I on behalf of the Committee, extend to all members, their families and friends the wish for a Happy and Holy Christmas. Next year, 1970, begins a new decade full of exciting promise, so be a part of it and start this summer making your slogan "Walk out into the seventies."

easy is when he is going down the hill.

COMING EVENTS IN DETAIL:FRIDAY 12TH. DECEMBER - CHRISTMAS PARTY:

The Christmas Party will be held this year at the Mater Christi Hall belonging to the Oblate Fathers at Eagle Junction. The address is 51 Norman Parade, Eagle Junction and the Hall is situated directly behind the Church.

Admission for this, the grand Social event of the year will be only $1.00 plus of course, the usual 40¢ present for Santa's bag. This year, due to rising costs, Santa won't be in a position to give a reciprocal present to anyone who hasn't contributed one to his bag.

The Social Secretary advises that dress for boys should be casual, and suggests that the girls use their imagination! Time of commencement - eight o'clock.

MONDAY 15TH. DECEMBER - GENERAL MEETING TEMPERANCE HALL, CANBERRA HOTEL AT 7.30P.M.

Be ready to be asked for your views on last month's photo competition. A healthy discussion will bring out some pointers for the organizers of next year's competition.

Those West Australian Tourists are hoping to bring West Australia to the Meeting, but are finding time short. If this show is not ready Pat and Bernice will rescreen the slides taken on their New Zealand holiday. We can't speak yet for the W.A. slides but the New Zealand series is as good as you will ever see. - For future reference 'phone number of Air New Zealand is 31.2548.

Anyone who missed out on the National Parks stickers will have first priority on the second batch at the Meeting.

NEW YEAR TRIP 30TH. DECEMBER/4TH. JANUARY - CARNARVON GORGE:

Leader- Larry Corkran Time- 7.30p.m. Tuesday
Nominations- A.S.A.P. Fare- not more than $15.00.
Departs- North Quay (behind Supreme Courts).
Emergency Officer- (39.2309) Kevin Herlihy.

The dates are now definite and the trip is on. There are 13 nominations to date, another 11 will bring the fare down to the target and any nomination above that will lower the fare further. Check on your holiday situation now and please nominate as soon as possible.

The Carnarvons are part of the Great Dividing Range (which does not follow the coast) and should be known to most Club members. Their attractions should also be well known thanks to the wide tourist promotion.

It is hoped to spend almost three days at the camp site, thus allowing a pleasant base camp and an energetic through-walk. If Father Keohane (or another priest) can go it will greatly simplify Mass arrangements but nothing has yet been finalized.

Water should be no problem this year but take as much as is convenient just in case.

The wet weather alternative is the Warrumbungles but let's hope for fine weather and make the most of this opportunity to have a bushwalking trip to the Carnarvons.

SUNDAY 11TH. JANUARY - DAYWALK - NORTHBROOK CREEK:

Leader- Thea Sanders Time- 9.00a.m.
Nominations- Monday 5th. Jan. Fare- $2.00
Departs- North Quay (behind Supreme Courts).
Emergency Officer- (39.2309) Kevin Herlihy

Access to this area is by the Brisbane - Esk road but the creek actually comes off the Western side of Mount Glorious. The B.B.W. S. & T. weekend of a few months back was held in this area which our observers decided would make a great daywalk.

The area is little known in bushwalking circles but after you have seen it you will wonder why - and it is only a small part of the huge mass of bushwalking country in the D'Aguilar Range. Come and join the trend-setting swing to D'Aguilar walking!

SATURDAY 17TH. JANUARY - SOCIAL - CAPTAIN COOK NIGHT:

The year will be 1970, but on this night we will go back like Brigadoon, two centuries into the mists of time - back to 1770 where we will join Captain Cook as he first sets foot on Australian soil.

The soil on which the gallant Captain first set foot is believed in some circles to be at 31 Blomfield Street, Moorrocka (now the home of Kathy Vingoe) and it is there that we hope to see you, suitably attired in a costume of the era, ready for your journey back through time. More details next circular.

TO YOU WHO PASS BY:

Ye who pass by and would raise your hand against me, hearken ere you harm me. I am the heat of your hearth on the cold winter nights; the friendly shade screening you from the summer sun; and my fruits are refreshing draughts quenching your thirst as you journey on.

I am the beam that holds your house, the board of your table, the bed on which you lie, and the timber that builds your boat. I am the handle of your hoe, the door of your homestead, the wood of your cradle, and the shell of your coffin.

I am the bread of kindness and the flower of beauty. Ye who pass by listen to my prayer:
HARM ME NOT.

TASMANIA'S UNTAMED HEART: (Part 1)by Michael A. Keohane, O.M.I.

Tasmania falls like a tear drop from the continent of Australia. A small sea girt state, comprising 26,215 sq. miles in area, it is famed for its picturesque lakes, impetuous rivers, rugged mountains, beautiful waterfalls and steep gorges. Though small in size (a little freckle as it were, on the map of the world), Tasmania, especially Western Tasmania, is acclaimed one of Australia's finest mountain resorts. The South west corner of the island is still virtually uninhabited it is covered with scrub of incredible density which has defied the explorer even to this day. Here in 1960, Sir Edmund Hillary of Mount Everest fame was turned back in an attempt to explore a peak.

Situated in the centre of Western Tasmania is the Lake St. Clair - Cradle Mountain National Park, a scenic reserve and wild life sanctuary. From Waldheim at the Northern end of the park to Cynthia Bay at the South is approximately 60 miles through an area of 336,000 acres. The inaccessibility of the Cradle Mountain Reserve is part of its lure and has been aptly termed the "Untamed Heart of Tasmania." Since the area is uninhabited and has no through roads, all supplies must be carried by pack and sufficient to last at least five days. Primitive huts, at convenient distances apart provide shelter. The track is clearly defined and marked but anyone doing the trip is advised to travel well equipped as extremes of weather may be experienced, and also in a party with three as a minimum for safety. The latter advice I disregarded convinced that with proper precautions, the true way to enjoy the wonders of the Reserve and capture the spirit of the early pioneers who penetrated into the region over a century ago without maps or tracks, was to wander alone.

The trip from Cradle Mountain to Lake St. Clair offers a great variety of scenery to the hiker and a wealth of botanical and geological wonders to the scientist. Some scientists claim that this area represents the remnant of a lost Continent - a Continent which extended to South America from which marsupials migrated and became modified in form in Australasia. The deciduous beech, commonly called "Fagus," the only native tree which loses its leaves in autumn, shows affinity to the South American beech. The Grass trees are living fossils of the Mesozoic age, when great palm trees and grass trees flourished. Now only this highland remains while the rest of the continent has weathered away and lies buried forever beneath the Southern Ocean.

My journey through the Reserve began at Waldheim. Here a Ranger resides and visitors are expected to inform him of their proposed movements. A chalet and the newly erected cottages provide accommodation. The chalet is built of pine, hewn and dressed by axe. Quaint and rustic, even primitive, yet comfortable, it harmonizes with the wild surroundings. It was erected in 1912 by Gustaf Weindofer who came originally on a botanical expedition and became popularly known as the "Hermit of Cradle Mountain." A native of Tyrol, he saw in the rugged peaks, pine forests, valleys and hills, a likeness to his native land. He called the place "Waldheim" (mountain home) and he lived there for over twenty years. An excellent linguist and student of natural history, he frequently contributed to scientific journals in Europe and America. There is vivid evidence of his love of nature and wild life in the tamed kangaroos and opossums that approach the chalet with no fear of humans, and accept food proffered to them by visitors.

Before leaving Waldheim a visit to the wayside museum is well worth while. When I began my five day trek, mist obscured the landmarks and distant peaks, while Cradle Mountain with its columnar precipices frowned down at me as I swung southward across the valley. My pack weighed 40 lbs. if not more and seemed to grow heavier as, following the track which rapidly ascends the plateau, I skirted the mountain below the dolerite scree slopes and approached the ridge known as the "Cirque." On my right three thousand feet below lay Crater Lake, misnamed, as it lies in no crater, but in a glacial hollow gouged out long ago by icy torrents. Here all around me was evidence of the long process of reduction by wind and water erosion assisted by glacial action in the highlands and valleys. Erratics and boulders carried by glaciers lay deposited far from their place of origin, while green hummocks and terminal moraine acted as dams forming picturesque little lakes and tarns. Examples of these formations are also to be seen on the ridge between Cradle Mountain and Barn Bluff. Barn Bluff, a pillar of rock 5,114 feet in height gradually unfolded itself as the morning mist, like a curtain, slowly rolled itself back to the sky.

An alternative route is over Hansen's peak, rather steep for anyone with a heavy pack. This track leads one to the southern side of the Cradle on to Lake Rodway where a new Chalet has been built by the Launceston Walking Club as a memorial to a teacher and pupil who perished there in 1967 and well deserves a visit. This was for another occasion, so I pressed on and from the summit of the cirque some 4,000 feet above sea level the track fell away sharply into a valley aptly named Waterfall Valley. Here in this sequestered valley is a small hut and on this occasion I stopped to boil the billy before proceeding on to open country and Lake Windemere.

As early as 1821, George Augustus Robinson, famed as a conciliator of the Tasmanian aboriginals, penetrated this region seeking the aboriginal murderers of a Captain B. Thomas. Again in 1834, Robinson mentions a frightful trip when he was waist deep in snow drifts. He is also credited with bringing in the remnants of the last aboriginal tribe, which had concentrated in this area. Now there was no sign of life and no living creature to dispute my choice or obstruct my path. Two hundred yards from Lake Windemere was the hut, crude and unadorned; yet despite its crudeness, it proved to be a haven of rest and provided shelter from the cold night air.

LAST MONTH'S TRIPS:

November, traditionally the month for exams and very serious study, was a less active than normal month so far as walking activity was concerned.

Nevertheless, on 9th. November, Garth Comerford led a merry band of nineteen people from Brookfield to the Gap via. Gold Creek. Transport by courtesy of the B.C.C. proved most exciting and the leader excelled himself in having Mr. Whippy brought to the party. An enjoyable, relatively easy day walk, appropriate for the weather conditions.

On 21st. to 23rd. November, a total of thirty-four members attended a S. & T. weekend at the end of Logan's Gorge in a very satisfactory setting, despite the rather long walk in, so far as base-camps go. Saturday's training sessions had their complications and the weather was rather rude for much of the morning. However it provided a grand opportunity for a demonstration on how to light a fire in damp conditions without the assistance of any volatile liquid. First-aid, Navigation, Abseiling techniques and camping techniques were covered in varying degrees of thoroughness in the limited time available. Sunday's navigation exercise over six to eight miles took six hours. Splitting such a large party into only two groups limited the usefulness of the exercise, as did the apparent lack of enthusiasm clearly evident in some of the party. Nevertheless the experience will be helpful in organising future events of this nature. But oh! so few took their first aid kits on this walk!

A hurried departure from the campsite gave certain members of the party an unfair amount of cleaning up to do. It's amazing how the pleading (?) that each person be responsible for his own rubbish tends to fall on deaf ears. The last minute absence of Fr. Keohane through illness, caught quite a few unprepared for the sophistication of the city, when the party returned to Brisbane for Mass at the Cathedral.

NEWS AND VIEWS:

Highlight of the November General Meeting was the Club's photographic competition where the members judged the fifty-one entries of selections of slides. The eventual winners were:-

First- Bernice Caffery - "Seascape"
Equal Second- Pat Lawton - "This is where it is"
Equal Second- Larry Corkran - "Why Point Lookout sunrises are famed."

Members will have the opportunity of offering constructive suggestions for improvement and/or variations for next year's competition, at the December Meeting.

The meeting itself for the most part was a relatively light hearted affair with entertaining reports on the Obi Obi and Gold Creek outings and the earnest exhortations to entice members to attend forthcoming functions now that the exams were over.

On a more somber note, the by-law published in the November circular was tabled in terms of Section 20 of the Constitution and came into effect immediately.

An analysis of the composition of the present membership disclosed the interesting and unusual fact that there are more males than females in the Club. There are 112 financial members with 7 married couples, 54 males, and 44 females.

Congratulations to the following who have been declared Ordinary Members:- Peter Herzog, John Rice, Noela Gilby, Terry Gould, Maureen Weston, Terry Panton.

Membership listas at end of October is attached. The following additions and corrections should be noted.

Corrections- Rev. Fr. John (Power) O.D.C.

Maureen Weston,
304 Bancroft Road, Myrtle town, 4008.

In addition the November meeting, at the instigation of Clare Maguire and Brian Hanvin, brought the matter of formal Club presentations to a head. Having due regard to the Constitutional provision that Committee members act in an honorary capacity, clear recommendations for the future Club attitude on these matters have been formulated.

NOTICESAN INVITATION:

An invitation has been received from the Brisbane Catholic Social Club for members to attend the Social Club's Annual Christmas Party (Dinner Dance) to be held at Coolden, 769 Brunswick Street, New Farm, on Friday, 19th. December 1969 at 8.0p.m. Tickets are $5.00 each ($10.00 double) and dress is semi-formal.

Anyone interested in attending should contact the Social Club's Secretary at Box 1284, G.P.O. Brisbane.

RETURN OF CLUB GEAR:

Will those people still holding Club gear after the S. & T. weekend, please return it to the Equipment Officer.

PRESENT FOR SANTA CLAUS:

Don't forget to bring a present worth about 40¢ to give to Santa, when you come to the Christmas Party. Santa is feeling the pinch this year and can only afford to give presents to those who give one to him.

"HEYBOB" ON SALE:

Anyone interested in buying a copy of the University Bushwalkers' Magazine "Heybob" may obtain copies from Paul Wiingaarden at the monthly meeting.

BUSHWALKER'S CASEBOOK:

Club members extend to Madonna Stratford and to her family, their sympathy on the recent death of Mrs. Stratford.

Exodus of members about to commence - Vice President Mike Grigg returning to Adelaide for Christmas; Chaplain Fr. M. Kechane going to Tasmania for his holidays.

Bernie O'Shea up recently for conference on proposed Tasmanian expedition. Understand solid throughwalks are included in the training programme to bring participants to peak physical condition and to test endurance for a much longer trip.

Peter Herzog now working in Tasmania but has already been through the Cradle Mountain National Park. He sends this Christmas message:- "I wish all the bushwalkers happy walking and wet feet."

Congratulations to Brian Hanvin and Rita Littman who announced their engagement recently.

Best wishes to Stewart Davis and his bride following their recent wedding.

Congratulations to Cecil Doughty, husband of member Bernice Doughty (nee Bolton) on his recent graduation as a Doctor.

Pleased to see John Twedell around and about once more after a brief spell in hospital. Hope you are fighting fit now John.

Jan Graham now back in Brisbane after overseas working trip to Canada and Europe.

Haird around town! Paul Tracey flew to Sydney recently (in plane not car) just for the weekend. We also haird he had an interesting weekend!

Kathy Vingoe threatening to go on a throughwalk.

Cushing's tom-cat has just had three kittens and the dog is now looking after them.

Believe Jenny C. had a mention in the sermon after a priest at the Cathedral had noticed her putting on her socks outside the church. All members who attended the S. & T. weekend were forced to attend Mass in their usual bushwalking garb after Father Keohane was unable to be present on the weekend.

This time it was Cyril who won at golf. Many consider this a remarkable feat as he was seen to be using hard boiled eggs instead of golf balls! Perhaps eggs are cheaper!

Pat Lawton to Cyril: "I don't care what you wear to the Committee Dinner as long as you come!"

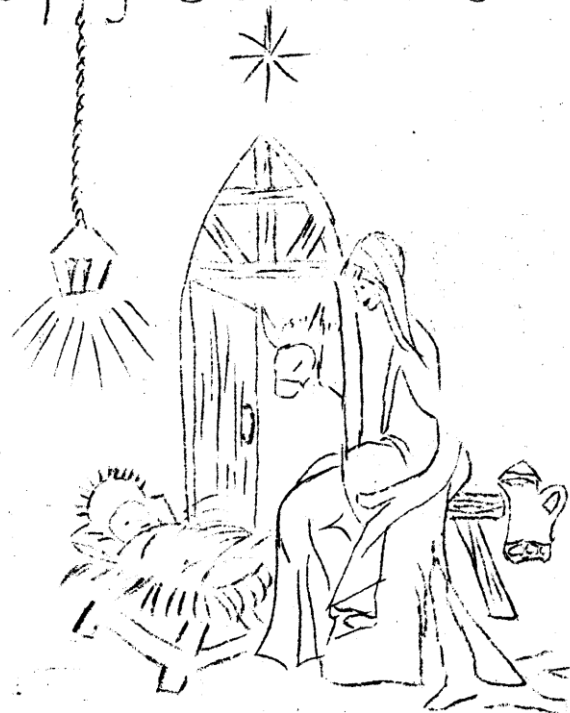

Mike Laherty no longer has a hare-lip.

Mary Fitzgerald has bought a new car, while Bernice Caffery has had her old one "patched up."

Please refer all news, scandals gossip, hatches, matches, and despatches, to any member of the Committee. We will publish anything in this line for a small fee - this to help cover libel suits.

Why was it that 13 people out of 26 cancelled their nominations for the Bouloumba Creek trip???

To all our members and readers
a Happy Christmas

and much enjoyable
waking in the New Year
